AGING AND DISABILITY RESOURCE CENTER (ADRC)

Information & Assistance

ADRC Information and Assistance (I&A) Specialists have information on a wide range of resources, including information about long term care and disability services. If you or someone you care for are turning 18 and have a disability, an I&A Specialist can provide confidential options counseling, assisting you in determining eligibility for long term care services, and refer you to other resources that may be needed following high school. You can request assistance from the ADRC at 17 years, 6 months of age and all the services are provided free of charge. To find out more, contact and I&A Specialist Monday through Friday, 8:00am to 4:30pm at (608) 741-3600.

Disability Benefit Specialist

A Benefit Specialist provides free and confidential assistance to people with disabilities between the age of 18 and 59.

Some of the programs and information Disability Benefit Specialists can help with are:

- Medical Assistance (Medicaid)
- Social Security Disability Income (SSDI)
- Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- Medicare
- Other financial assistance programs you may qualify for

For more information about the Disability Specialist Program, contact the ADRC at (608) 741-3600
